

HOMOTRAD ITIONALISM

The Collected Writings of ekotyanich

Table of Contents

1. LGBTQ is homophobic	1
2. Liberal vs. Homotraditional	2
3. Traditional family values	3
4. Decay of homosexual relationships	3
5. The original marriage institute	5
6. Hypermasculinity is barbaric	6
7. Homotraditional values in civilized society	7
8. Eroticization of heterosexual relationships	8
9. Male promiscuity is spiritually straight	10

Annotation:

Compiled writings of ekotyanich (https://x.com/ekotyanich_), retrieved 2025-10-01.
Release onto archive.org authorized.

The cover image is an original creation for this release and intentionally uncredited; its license is CC0 (Public Domain, No Rights Reserved).

Writings mostly ordered according to presumed best reader experience.

From here on out: text in original with formatting and grammar changes; emojicons and images were removed. Readability changes are annotated.

LGBTQ is homophobic

LGBTQ in its modern form is not about protecting gay rights, it's a movement with certain political views and goals which, for the most part, are progressive and homophobic. Regardless of whether they realize this or not, they serve the straight agenda.

The main issue is that LGBTQ claims to represent all gay men, and by extension associates them with their actions and political agenda in the minds of other people, but this is what the heteronormative elites want as it makes it easier to present homosexuality in a negative way.

LGBTQ prefers to ignore problems inside of the community for the sake of solidarity which also damages gays' public image; it serves as the main tool for creating homophobic sentiment among people and creating an unhealthy understanding of homosexual relationships among the youth.

Therefore, LGBTQ is responsible for creating bad reputation for gays by intertwining being gay with progressive politics and promiscuity. The latter is especially repulsive. When the LGBTQ community tolerates and accepts promiscuous practices, they admit that they perceive promiscuity as essential and synonymous to being gay, which couldn't be further from the truth.

No gay man with dignity should silently watch as their orientation is being equalized with immoral and disgusting activities, especially when it's done by ones who represent them.

As gays, it's especially crucial for us to be the first to condemn these homophobic views promoted by the LGBTQ community. We must reject the LGBTQ progressive agenda, and embrace the noble and pure homosexuality.

We shouldn't identify ourselves with the LGBTQ community even though they claim to represent us. All they do is defend the promiscuous lifestyle, put gay lives in danger by letting certain demographics in and politicize sexual orientation even more than the right does.

Liberal vs. Homotraditional

On the surface it might appear that the republican catboy has given up his freedoms, while the AnCap Chad is in control of his own life. But in exchange for this “freedom”, the AnCap Chad lost something of the greater value.

The Chad AnCap is self-centered, for him there is no greater good than the preservation of his own rights and freedoms. Because of this he can't fully become a part of something more important than himself. Such utter self-love can't produce anything beautiful into this world.

Meanwhile, the submissive boy understands that there are things which are more important than him, something worth submitting and committing yourself to. The love he expresses is directed towards others and not to himself. And it, in contrast to self-love, is capable of creating and bringing beauty into this world. This catboy, in contrast to the AnCap Chad, has the power to become a part of something bigger than him – like a relationship with another boy, marriage or even a family.

And no rights or freedoms will ever be worth losing this power to create.

Traditional family values

If you advocate for traditional family values you also should advocate for boywives.

When modern women become less and less feminine and traditional, due to feminism, they create a vacuum in society (and in the family institute) which naturally gets filled by feminine guys.

Boywives compete with women for the same ecological niche. Every sane man (if we talk about a society without irrational homophobia) would prefer a trad boywife over a progressive female as a partner, as he obviously would fulfil his duties as a wife significantly better. Men will have real options to choose from – if women become less traditional, boywives take their place; thus forcing women to embrace traditional values if they intend to be able to compete for a good husband. However, female trad wives will always be in high demand, so it only affects non-trad women. This way we will have a self-sufficient mechanism in our society which will help preserve traditional family values. It reminds of how the law of supply and demand works in a free market economy.

And women should not have a monopoly over traditional family!

If you are homophobic, you are also promoting the woke progressivist agenda and contributing to the decay of the western civilization!! We must embrace our ancient customs my brothers and sisters! Let us restore the true family institute which Christianity took from us!

Decay of homosexual relationships

One of the main premises of Homotraditionalism is that our culture has fallen due to the decay of the institute of homosexual relationships. Without it we lost true meaning of both the masculine and the feminine, and this led to the further collapse of the true European values.

Not being able to understand our true nature, we were trying to compensate our incomplete selves with different progressivist ideologies, which tried to fool us into accepting nature alien to this of a white man. Our feelings and desires were repressed by an enemy to our religions.¹ But there's no stronger feeling than love and there's no stronger feeler than a man.

Trying to restrict male on male relationships we only destroy our culture and make it either stagnate or even degrade.

By rejecting homosexuality, you also reject your European heritage.

Let's forsake this alien god and his barbaric values! Let's once again embrace the things which define ourselves, our culture, our history and our true nature as our ancestors did before us.

Let's embrace each other, my lovely brothers, let's embrace the white man once² again.

¹ [Our feelings and desires were repressed by an enemy to us religion's], interpreted and changed to readability.

The original marriage institute

Homotraditionalism advocates for the original marriage institute, which is different from that of Christianity. Christians perceive marriage as just a union between a man and a woman. But this has little to do with the actual traditional marriage.

The main defining feature of a marriage in the traditional pagan societies (like ancient Rome and Greece) was not that it is a union between a man and a woman, but rather that it is a union between two families/lineages through their respected family members. This version of marriage is aimed to preserve and support the traditional institute of extended family, in contrast to a Christian marriage which leads inevitably to secular families with a 1.5 child in a household and little to no connection between generations in a family.

Thus, the Christian version of marriage is not just exclusionary toward gay couples, but also very progressive and destructive to the family institute and the white society as a whole.

Gay marriage and the traditional family institute are not exclusive toward each other, it's quite the opposite – they are not just capable of coexisting, but they work together in order to maintain the institute of extended family and traditional family values.

Practice the Homotraditional gay marriage and preserve our true white values!

It's the way to restore the legacy of our European culture and traditions. The fate of the white civilization is in your pretty boyish hands.

The amount of knowledge about Homotraditionalism positively correlates with how likely your boyrelationship will succeed :3

Hypermasculinity is barbaric

Hypermasculinity is barbaric and has no place in civilized cultures.

A man is defined not by his inability to be feminine, but by his male virtues. Being feminine is not only compatible with being a man, but also natural in highly developed societies.

High testosterone levels are a common thing only in poorly developed nations and it is alien to (but not only) Europe. Therefore, the people who say that white boys should have higher levels of testosterone or be more masculine just want white boys to be less white, less of themselves.

However, it's the nations with the richest cultures and with the brightest minds which had and have the prettiest men, men who are able to grasp and conquer not only the masculine, but the feminine too. This is the type of men who change the world and bring forth the beautiful in it.

Homotraditional values in civilized society

The more developed society is – the more common homosexual relationships are in it.

Homotraditional values are the direct result of a society being civilized and having a rich and complex culture. Homophobia, in contrast, is inherently barbaric and uncivilized.

Whether it be the heart of European culture (pagan Rome and Greece), the Asian cultural capital of the past (medieval China) or any other successful Civilization – they all worshiped male beauty. The beauty of a man is a universal value among all the greatest civilizations.

We can see that homophobia is mostly prominent among demographics like: black people, Muslims, communists. Despite being completely different categories, they all share similarities in being culturally poor, primitive and just inferior compared to civilized societies.

The worship of male beauty and its central place in a culture are tightly intertwined with this culture's greatness. The only nations capable of Homotraditionalism are the ones which value aesthetically pleasing things above all – the ones which oppose a barbaric worldview.

Furthermore, homosexual relationships are inherently aristocratic, as the boys who are taught from young age to appreciate and value the true beauty are naturally more prone to homosexuality. It makes the case for homophobia being a trait of illiterate people even stronger.

Gays are the core and stronghold of every great civilization (especially European one), and the ones are who against gay boys, are willingly or unconsciously promote barbaric values. But we must protect our ancestral heritage and not let our culture be destroyed by this savagery.

Eroticization of heterosexual relationships

The eroticization of heterosexual relationships is an invention of the Abrahamic religions, and it was popularized in Europe via Christianity.

Because of that, the true meaning of love was forgotten and different perversions were born as the result.

Heterosexual relationships are predominantly wanton in their nature, and they are apt to be of the body rather than of the soul. They make the foolish ones to be the object of their attraction, as they care only to gain the end, but not to achieve the noble or the beautiful.

The love for youths, however, lacks this type of wantonness – it is noble, valiant and intelligent in its nature. Only by embracing another boy, who is a being both superior to a woman in body, as well as a being more mature. In other words, a being similar to him; a man capable of heavenly love.¹ The pure love, the type of love which is only possible between two men, the type of love a man can fully dedicate himself to, passing his whole life with him by his side. So called “traditional” heterosexual relationships are mostly incapable of this.

A society, where the common/wanton love (mostly straight love) is widely spread and practiced as the main type of love, will inevitably lead to other perversions occurring in it. As the straight type of attraction is inherently prone to be focused on primitive and promiscuous desires.

An example of such perversion would be the relationships between young boys and mature men, as in their nature they have more in common with heterosexual type of attraction rather than one experienced in Homotraditional relationships, even despite both of them being males, as these relationships take advantage of young boys not being mature and not being able to express and practice male virtues and traits. We, therefore, can hardly find anything in common between attraction experienced in the case above and one in Homotraditional relationships.

In contrast to heteronormative societies, Homotraditional ones are inherently, at their core, against this and other types of perversions. Instead, they worship the intelligent type of love, which not only holds value because of its aesthetic beauty and non-promiscuous nature, but also due to the male-on-male love directly contributing to the development of culture in all its aspects: arts, science, religion, philosophy, etc.

Gay love is the most strong and impactful force in human history and even the decayed society we live in can be fixed with it.

We must preserve and spread boylove!

As long as we remember the true meaning of it, as long as we recite the Homotraditional works of our ancestors and worship what made our culture great, it will exist and spread through us, our actions and our feelings, to each other.

¹ [...] who is being both superior to a woman in body as well as being mature in other words being similar to him, a man capable of heavenly love.], interpreted and changed to readability.

² [...] dedicate himself to and pass his whole life with him by his side.], interpreted and changed to readability.

Male promiscuity is spiritually straight

Heteronormative society values only the purity of a woman. However, preserving one's purity as a man should be as much, if not more important.

Male virginity is perceived by straight men as something that should be lost as soon as possible, but such ideas are symptomatic of the spiritual inferiority of straight men and their inability for complex and deep feelings toward their partners: men rarely love a woman for who she is but just feel lust for her body. No wonder that straight men value purity so little, as a sexual intercourse for them, is only valued for the carnal pleasures they get,¹ rather than the deep emotional connection and strong feelings for each other.

When a gay man leads a promiscuous lifestyle, he basically accepts this straight mentality and the straight worldview. Even though he is attracted to other men, the type of attraction he feels and the type of love he practices in this case are straight in their nature.

Therefore, promiscuous gay men are spiritually closer to straights than to sensitive young gay men. If a man loves another man just for his body and he doesn't love the man in his entirety, such attraction can't be considered fully homosexual.

Promiscuity directly contradicts homosexuality.

To expose yourself to someone you don't truly love just for fleeting pleasure and approval from others is something one should feel ashamed of. But there's nothing shameful about preserving your purity for your true love.

¹ [...] as a sexual intercourse has value for them only due to carnal pleasures they get, [...]], interpreted and changed to readability.

Thank you for reading.

Homotraditionalism is the philosophy developed by ekotyanich which emphasizes traditional and loving relationships between white boys. Citing European history and the strive for beauty, he believes that homosexual love is the most pure form of love there can be – an ideal corrupted only by modern, straight, promiscuity and an ideologically corrupt representation of gay people.